Wings Over Washington

Experience the state-of-the-art “flying theater” of Wings over Washington at Miner’s Pier in Seattle. Note – the seats tilt to imitate a flying sensation and it can be quite startling. It is currently the most state-of-art theater in the world using 5K cameras. Once you are strapped into your seats, get ready to experience an amazing journey over some of the most beautiful areas throughout the State. Because the theater has limited seating, we have arranged two trips this quarter. After this event, we will have lunch on your own. Maximum weight 300 pounds restriction and various health conditions are recommended not to ride. A Terms and Conditions sheet is attached before purchase.

Smith Tower Tour

Smith Tower, Seattle's first skyscraper and its tallest building from 1914 until 1969 and the tallest building west of the Mississippi River, recently re-opened for public tours. The 35th floor, formerly known as the Chinese room, is now Smith Tower Observatory, with a 360 degree view of Seattle. On your ride to the top, you can explore some of the stories and moments that have made Smith Tower a beloved gem. The Legends of Smith Tower Exhibits provide a glimpse into a time when Seattleites were coming to terms with early Prohibition and technology that would soon transform their city. We will lunch on our own, on the way home.

Klondike Gold Rush Museum

Klondike Gold Rush Museum preserves the story of the stampede to the Yukon gold fields and Seattle's crucial role in this event. The headlines of a Seattle newspaper on July 17, 1897, Gold! Gold! Gold! ignited dreams of easy riches in the minds of thousands as word of a rich gold strike in northwestern Canada was announced. This self-guided tour will inform you of Seattle's role in the history of the gold rush and how it helped Seattle boom into a city of major importance. Two videos will give us insight into the families who were part of pioneering Seattle, making it what is today. We will have lunch nearby, or you can bring a lunch and take 1 block north to the Waterfall Park. Lunch not included.
